NASHVILLE, Tennessee, August 5, 2025, - Cryoport, Inc. (NASDAQ: CYRX) (“Cryoport” or the “Company”), a leading global provider of temperature-controlled supply chain solutions for the life sciences, today announced financial results for its second quarter (Q2) and first half (H1) of 2025.

Jerrell Shelton, CEO of Cryoport, commented, “Cryoport delivered strong, double-digit growth across all revenue streams within Life Sciences Services in the second quarter, increasing 21% year-over-year and accounting for 54% of total revenue from continuing operations. Notably, revenue from BioLogistics Solutions increased 20% and BioStorage/BioServices revenue rose 28%, underscoring the growing demand for our integrated platform.

“Revenue from the support of commercial cell and gene therapies increased 33% year-over-year to $8.7 million. This growth continues to be fueled by the increasing development and adoption of cell & gene therapies, a positive trend we believe will continue for years to come.

“Life Sciences Products revenue grew 8% year-over-year. This solid performance was primarily driven by stronger demand, particularly from animal health customers.

“The 14% year-over-year increase in total revenue from continuing operations, combined with our planned pathway to profitability, contributed to an increase in gross margin and a meaningful improvement in our adjusted EBITDA. With strong execution across all business units, we are reaffirming our full-year 2025 revenue guidance as we move towards our goal of sustainable, long-term profitability.

“A key milestone this quarter was the launch of our strategic partnership with the DHL Group and DHL’s acquisition of CRYOPDP. This transaction with DHL delivered both a strong infusion of capital, a substantial return on investment, and strengthened our global biologistics capabilities and effectiveness. By leveraging DHL’s competencies, scale, and reach in APAC and EMEA, we believe we will be increasingly well positioned to expand our Life Sciences Services business and deepen our leadership in the developing global regenerative medicine market.

“In summary, the second quarter was marked by strong revenue growth, improved profitability, and the execution of a transformative partnership strategy. We are entering the second half of the year with strong momentum and a clear focus on driving long-term shareholder value,” concluded Mr. Shelton.

In tabular form, Q2 2025 and H1 2025 revenue compared to Q2 2024 and H1 2024, respectively, were as follows:

BioStorage/BioServices revenue continued its strong growth trajectory year-over-year, increasing 28% in Q2 2025 as we continue to introduce our capabilities to existing clients, add new clients into our global network, and as more commercial therapies progress in the number of patients treated.

Revenue from the support of commercial cell & gene therapies increased 33% year-over-year to $8.7 million and included revenue from BioLogistics Solutions and accessories. As of June 30, 2025, we supported eighteen (18) commercial therapies.

As of June 30, 2025, Cryoport supported a total of 728 global clinical trials, a net increase of 44 clinical trials over June 30, 2024, with 82 of these clinical trials in Phase 3. The number of trials by phase and region are as follows:

Cryoport Supported Clinical Trials by Phase

In Q2 2025, one Marketing Authorization Applications (MAA) filing occurred and two Biologics License Applications (BLA) filings have occurred for label/geographic expansions post the quarter end. During the quarter, Cryoport's customer Abeona Therapeutics received U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approval for their cell therapy ZEVASKYNTM, for the treatment of Recessive Dystrophic Epidermolysis Bullosa (RDEB). During the remainder of 2025, we anticipate up to an additional twenty (20) application filings, one (1) new therapy approval and an additional three (3) approvals for label/geographic expansions.

Additionally, in late June 2025, the FDA announced it was removing the Risk Evaluation and Mitigation Strategies (REMS) requirements for approved BCMA- and CD19-directed autologous CAR-T cell immunotherapies. This reduces the regulatory burden and can lead to increased patient access and faster commercial scaling for these therapies. Cryoport-supported therapies such as Carvykti[®], Yescarta[®], Tecartus[®], and Breyanzi[®] are included in this FDA action.

The results of CRYOPDP, a former business within Cryoport's Life Sciences Services business, are presented as discontinued operations for all periods presented within the Condensed Statements of Operations and Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheets included in this press release and are also not included in the non-GAAP financial measures presented herein.

The decrease for Q2 2025 reflects an impairment charge of $63.8 million in Q2 2024, which was primarily related to the write off of remaining goodwill for MVE Biological Solutions. Operating costs and expenses for H1 2025 decreased to $59.3 million compared to $128.3 million for H1 2024, reflecting the impairment charge relating to MVE Biological Solutions. The Company's 2025 guidance is dependent on its current business and expectations, which may be further impacted by, among other things, factors that are outside of our control, such as national economic factors, the global macroeconomic and geopolitical environment, supply chain constraints, inflationary pressures, tariffs and other trade restrictions and/or the effects of foreign currency fluctuations, as well as the other factors described in the Company's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), including in the "Risk Factors" section of its most recently filed periodic reports on Form 10-K and Form 10-Q, as well as in its subsequent filings with the SEC.

Note Regarding Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

To supplement our financial statements, which are presented on the basis of U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP), the following non-GAAP measures of financial performance as defined in Regulation G of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 are included in this release: revenue at constant currency, revenue growth rate at constant currency, adjusted operating costs and expenses, adjusted net income (loss), and adjusted EBITDA. Non-GAAP financial measures are not calculated in accordance with GAAP, are not based on any comprehensive set of accounting rules or principles and may be different from non-GAAP financial measures presented by other companies. Non-GAAP financial measures, including revenue at constant currency, revenue growth rate at constant currency, adjusted operating costs and expenses, adjusted net income (loss), and adjusted EBITDA, should not be considered as a substitute for, or superior to, measures of financial performance prepared in accordance with GAAP.

We believe that revenue growth is a key indicator of how Cryoport is progressing from period to period and we believe that the non-GAAP financial measures, revenue at constant currency and revenue growth rate at constant currency, are useful to investors in analyzing the underlying trends in revenue. Under GAAP, revenue from continuing operations received in local (non-U.S. dollar) currency is translated into U.S. dollars at the average exchange rate for the period presented. As a result, fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates affect the results of our operations and the value of our foreign assets and liabilities, which in turn may affect results of operations and cash flows and the comparability of period-to-period results of operations. When we use the term “constant currency,” it means that we have translated local currency revenue from continuing operations for the current reporting period into U.S. dollars using the same average foreign currency exchange rates for the conversion of revenue from continuing operations into U.S. dollars that we used to translate local currency revenue for the comparable reporting period of the prior year. Revenue growth rate at constant currency refers to the measure of comparing the current reporting period revenue from continuing operations at constant currency with the reported GAAP revenue from continuing operations for the comparable reporting period of the prior year.

However, we also believe that data on constant currency period-over-period changes have limitations, particularly as the currency effects that are eliminated could constitute a significant element of our revenue and could significantly impact our performance. We therefore limit our use of constant currency period-over-period changes to a measure for the impact of currency fluctuations on the translation of local currency revenue into U.S. dollars. We do not evaluate our results and performance without considering both period-over-period changes in non-GAAP constant currency revenue on the one hand and changes in revenue prepared in accordance with GAAP on the other. We caution the readers of this press release to follow a similar approach by considering revenue on constant currency period-over-period changes only in addition to, and not as a substitute for, or superior to, changes in revenue prepared in accordance with GAAP.

Adjusted operating costs and expenses is defined as operating costs and expenses, excluding impairment losses, if any. Adjusted net income (loss) is defined as net income (loss), excluding impairment losses, if any. Management believes these measures, when read in conjunction with, and as supplemental to, the corresponding GAAP financial measures, provide useful measures to investors of Cryoport's expenses and operating results, meaningful comparisons with historical results, and insight into Cryoport's operating performance.

Adjusted EBITDA is defined as net income (loss) adjusted for loss from discontinued operations, net interest expense, income taxes, depreciation and amortization expense, stock-based compensation expense, acquisition and integration costs, divestiture costs, cost reduction initiatives, investment income, unrealized (gain)/loss on investments, foreign currency (gain)/loss, net gain on extinguishment of debt, impairment loss, changes in fair value of contingent consideration and charges or gains resulting from non-recurring events, as applicable.

Management believes that adjusted EBITDA provides a useful measure of Cryoport's operating results, a meaningful comparison with historical results and with the results of other companies, and insight into Cryoport's ongoing operating performance. Further, management and the Company's board of directors utilize adjusted EBITDA to gain a better understanding of Cryoport's comparative operating performance from period to period and as a basis for planning and forecasting future periods. Adjusted EBITDA is also a significant performance measure used by Cryoport in connection with its incentive compensation programs. Management believes adjusted EBITDA, when read in conjunction with Cryoport's GAAP financials, is useful to investors because it provides a basis for meaningful period-to-period comparisons of Cryoport's ongoing operating results, including results of operations, against investor and analyst financial models, helps identify trends in Cryoport's underlying business and in performing related trend analyses, and it provides a better understanding of how management plans and measures Cryoport's underlying business.
